

DAWSON CITY WOMEN'S CONTINUING EDUCATION

STORY: Marianne Collins came to Dawson City a long time ago to work for the summer and then never really left. Serendipity gifted her many cats and landed her as the current owner/operator of Maximilian's Gold Rush Emporium on Front Street in Dawson City.

She is grateful for all the folks in the community who inspire and support her on a daily basis and for the opportunities both Dawson City and Maximilian's have given her.

Dawson is a town full of kind people who do so much for the community and those around them. Ongoing local and visitor support of Maximilian's provided the basis for establishing this award.
