

AMANDA P. TAYLOR

STORY: Amanda Taylor arrived in Whitehorse in May 2015 after completing her Master's of Planning degree from Halifax's Dalhousie University.

Amanda had a zest for life and an infectious personality. She found inspiration and motivation in new challenges and adventures, and she loved the outdoor lifestyle that the Yukon offers.

Amanda thrived in the wilderness, embracing several different sports and activities with the many friends she made by her side. Her huskies, Agon and Moxie, accompanied her on many adventures.

Through her cheerful outlook on life, bubbly personality, and generosity, Amanda left a lasting impression on people. She brought so much love, light, and energy into her community and the lives of her friends.

Amanda's life was tragically cut short from a brain hemorrhage, and she died on May 25, 2022.
