

RITA & FRANK MOONEY

STORY: Frank (1925 -) and Rita Mooney (1931 - 2009) both attended St. Francis Xavier University, met and married in Toronto. They moved to Saskatchewan and then the Yukon in 1970 for Frank to start a job with the federal government as General Manager of the Northern Canada Power Commission (NCPC).

Frank and Rita raised their eight children in Whitehorse and the family blossomed under their love of the outdoors.

Rita taught school for nine years in the Yukon and served the community in many ways in the field of nutrition. They both cherished education and teaching, and volunteered much of their lives to helping others, here and abroad.
